So you reach a certain age then you start to experience symptoms like hot flashes, night sweats, insomnia, anxiety. I must admit, at 42 it took me a little by surprise as I thought you only experience being peri menopause in your 50's as I was suffering with irritability, hot flashes and loss of memory. It's a natural, a rite of passage, a life transition, a sign of another stage in your life. Yes it's normal but does it have to be so annoying or stressful? The answer is no, it doesn't. :)
