"It is progesterone's major job to regulate the genes that cause all of a woman's cells all over her brain and body to grow, to differentiate or to die. Progesterone is one of the premier regulatory hormones.

Without it rising cyclically, the woman becomes, literally and figuratively, on the cellular level out of control. This is the beginning of aging and ultimately the onset of the death of the organism, that is you." TS Wiley from Sex, Lies and Menopause. 1080.
