i definitely wanted to pop in with this reminder as we head into the thanksgiving holiday (for all of my US followers)! the holiday season may stir up food-related fears and anxieties, especially when it comes to disruptions in our usual schedules, intakes, and overall ability to control what's on our plate. every year i always make the most of the time spent with my family and the food they put so much time and love into making. i couldn't be more excited for some classic stuffing and pumpkin pie this year- just the good ole' regular recipes, no vegan fixes. i'm fortunate enough that i don't have any medical conditions that narrow my intake, so i'll be leaning into this ability to exercise flexibility and grace this week ♥?
