You have to remember that Sustamed is still active in the blood for a month after the last injection. This drug is given once every 10 days. The optimum dose is 250 mg every 10 days reaching up to 1000 mg per week. If doses exceed the level above, then the side effects will be more pronounced than the accumulation of muscle mass. Sustandrol is used in adult men in the testosterone replacement therapy to treat various health problems caused by lack of testosterone (male hypogonadism).

For those athletes who already have some experience in using steroids, it is recommended to buy Sustamed based on its use with a dosage of 250-500 milligrams per week for 6-8 weeks. Usually such a dosage is enough to increase up to 6 kilograms of muscle mass during this period, which is quite a lot, given the safety of use.
