DNA, RNA, Protein Synthesis

DeoxyriboNucleic Acid – The Basics:

- DNA contains the genetic blueprints for proteins of a cell/organism.
- DNA is replicated before cell division.
- Genetic blueprints are encoded in the nucleotide sequence

Constituents:

- DNA (and RNA) are nucleic acids – DeoxyriboNucleic Acid
- A DNA molecule = 2 complimentary polynucleotide chains (DNA Chains/Strands)
- Within each polynucleotide chain, there are thousands of genes (which each encode a protein) made up of a specific sequences of nucleotides.
- Each nucleotide contains:
 - 1x Deoxyribose (5C sugar ring) (has a hydroxyl group on the 3' carbon)
 - 1x Phosphate Group (on the 5' carbon of the deoxyribose)
 - 1x Nitrogen-containing Base - Either:
 - Adenine (A) (Purine -OO)
 - Guanine (G) (Purine -OO)
 - Thymine (T) (Pyrimidine -O)
 - Cytosine (C) (Pyrimidine -O)

Nucleotide Pairing Arrangement:

-Each chain of DNA is held together by hydrogen bonds between

-Only specific pairs of nucleotides can bond to each other:

- A = T (2 H bonds → lower mtp) [T is replaced by U in RNA]
- G ≡ C (3 H bonds → higher mtp)

NOTICE: double-ringed bases always bond to single-ringed bases

-These H-bonds can be broken (and the DNA denatured) by raising temperature
