Truly the end of an era! Today I said my goodbyes to my amazing pulmonologist whom I've known for the past 7+ years. I turn 21 in 3 days and will officially age out of pediatric care. What a wild ride it has been. The people at @chocchildrens have helped shape me into the person I am today and motivated me to pursue my calling as a physician. It was time to say goodbye as I get ready to move on to bigger and brighter things. Maybe the next time I walk these halls will be as a medical student on an away rotation?

After standardizing the conditions for isolating cells, Friedrich began to characterize proteins. He soon realized that the protein complexity was enormous. Like many at the time, he believed he would understand how the cell functioned by characterizing protein diversity. In one of his attempts, Friedrich discovered a substance with unique properties: he managed to precipitate it with acids and, when it was dissolved again, made the solution alkaline. This must have been the first DNA purification in history. More interestingly, the substance appeared to be totally located in the cell nucleus, a structure of intense scientific debate at that time. Friedrich called the new compound ♦nuclein♦. check this link right here now
