(Competitive edge labs) P-MAG cycle - AnabolicMinds

H-drol (original Halodrol) and p-mag (promagnon) are the only decent gray market supplements IMO. Their gains are modest, side effects are manageable, and are seemingly gentle on the liver compared to other orals. Real talk, if you're considering prohormones and worried about sides, just get the real deal.

Academization of Bandura by Bandurism Exponents in Ukraine

Iryna Ya. Zinkiv

Lviv National Music Academy named after Mykola Lysenko, Lviv, Ukraine

Abstract--Ukrainian bandura underwent a long and difficult evolutionary path. Its academicization process took place in the XX-XXI centuries. The impact of prominent bandura craftsmen O. Korniiievskiy, V. Tuzychenko, I. Skliar, and V. Herasymenko on the process of the Ukrainian bandura academization was studied. The authors devoted their work to historical assessment in the affirmation of the academized instruments of Chernihiv (or Kyiv-Chernihiv) and Kharkiv types. The specifics of the creation of the academized instrument in 1920-2010 by leading Ukrainian designers – bandura craftsmen became a purpose of the study. The abovementioned bandura craftsmen made a significant impact on the academization of diatonic banduras, their transformation into the instrument with a double-diatonic tuning system and bringing it closer to European trends. The particular roles of O. Korniiievskiy, V. Tuzychenko, I. Skliar, and V. Herasymenko in this process were characterized. It was noted that the Kyiv method of play on an academic instrument is much more popular than Kharkiv-type which is why the latter needs additional attention.

Keywords--bandura craftsmen, development, lute-like instruments, Ukrainian music.

Introduction

Bandura is a nation-formation component of the spiritual culture of the Ukrainian people. During the XVIII – first decades of the XX centuries, it underwent a long and difficult evolutionary path, from a diatonic to a “chromatic” academized instrument with a double-diatonic pitch. By the beginning of the XX century, the Ukrainian popular professional tradition had several established methods of playing the diatonic traditional instrument, associated with the specific development of the Northern (Chernihivshchyna) and South-Eastern (Slobozhanshchyna) regions of the national musical and epic tradition development. Since the Middle Ages the psalter culture dominated in the North of
