Although this drug does require a frequent injection schedule, it will pass through a needle as fine as 27 gauge (insulin). This allows the user more available injection sites, hitting the smaller muscle groups such as the deltoid, triceps and calves. With test suspension the test is immediately available to the muscle it is injected into in great quantity. The theory is the site of injection has "first dibs" with the testosterone thus creating a greater growth response. then after saturating the receptors in that muscle it continues into the bloodstream to affect other areas of the body. In honor of International Day of Women and Girls in Science and Inventors Day, we celebrate the work of Marie Curie. Marie Curie's work in science opened many doors for women in STEM fields. Not only did she discover radioactivity, polonium and radium in the year 1898, but she was also the first woman to ever win a Nobel Prize and the first woman to win the award in two different fields. She won Nobel Prizes in physics and chemistry. Marie is also remembered for her huge contribution to finding treatments for cancer.
