Testosterone is a steroid hormone made by the testes in males. The production of testosterone is stimulated and controlled by luteinising hormone (LH), which is manufactured in the pituitary gland. In men, testosterone stimulates the enlargement of the penis, growth of body hair, muscle development, and a deepening voice.

Our home testosterone test measures total testosterone which is a combination of free and bound testosterone. Testosterone is an essential male hormone integral to multiple functions in the body including energy, bone health, mood, libido and muscle growth. Our convenient testosterone test kit will identify if your levels require improvement. check these guys out

About this Testosterone Blood Test. Total testosterone is an indicator of the total amount of testosterone in the blood. If low it can cause symptoms of testosterone deficiency such as low libido, reduced muscle mass and strength, and low mood.. Free testosterone is a calculated value that indicates the amount of testosterone free to be used by the cells in the body.
