My dude @creightonhill kills it!! Finished up the beard for the Blackheart piece on the @nxtciampa arm.. and added a little something to the other wrist.

I'm going out with my husband for our anniversary tonight and the entire left side of my head feels like it's on fire. Neurological hell. It was diagnosed trigeminal neuralgia but I'm not one for diagnoses because they can box us in. They're just a set of symptoms that have a root cause and we can repair the body from the inside out. I remember vividly a few years ago we had to stay home for our anniversary because I was really sick. We had plans at a steakhouse but bought a fondue set and made our own romantic date in bed instead. This journey is the pits sometimes and it reminds me how much of life I've missed out on. But I am comforted to know I have amazing nutritional supplements, my IHP community and personal determination to get better for my kiddos.

Note: when performing the laying side lateral raise, notice I never let go of the tension. Pick a weight you can keep that squeeze through the entire 15 reps. For the bent over reverse flys bring the weight back with the tension in your rear delts, almost as if your trying to elbow someone behind you. Let me know if you dig it
