jintropin may cause some negative reactions: headache, fatigue or weakness, pain in the thigh and knee, peripheral edema (in the first weeks of treatment), arthralgia, myalgia, increased intracranial pressure (severe and frequent headaches, nausea, vomiting), pancreatitis (abdominal pain, nausea, vomiting), otitis media and hearing loss (in ... History of colors of the HGH tops Before the existence of generic HGH labs in China, the yellow tops were used by Jintropin (GeneScience Pharmaceuticals), blue tops were used by Hypertropin (Neogenica Bioscience) and green tops were used for Igtropin (IGF-1 long R3). In 2007, both Jintropin and Hypertropin switched to using green color caps.

Jintropin is a recombinant human growth hormone. Its purpose is to increase levels of HGH in the body. Scientists discovered synthetic HGH in the early 1980s. It is manufactured to be as close in structure as possible to natural human growth hormone. This is accomplished by replicating its DNA.

jintropin recently changed there packaging to green tops. i am currently using and they have green tops which match the box from the gensci website. the old jintropin i used last year had yellow tops. the supplier i use now said about six weeks ago they got the new boxes with the green tops from gensci. if you have the yellow tops you should be fine as long as the were store correctly. I didn't see green tops since last fall. And after I got a couple of messages about their Jin not working I started to think either about fake stuff or simply bad product (stored with wrong conditions so hormone was ruined). Jintropin is the best HGH from China in fact so I can clearly see the reason why it is so popular.

HGH-Jintropin vs Gen science Green tops

Hello I am new to this. Last month I started my first cycle of Jintropin blue tops. I got a feeling of pain in my hands the first day and then no more feelings after that. Then this month I ordered Green tops from Geni Science. It makes me bloat everytime I use it and some pain in my joints.
