Young girls with menstrual problems rarely present themselves to their family doctor. This may be due to fear, ignorance or embarrassment. Menstrual cycle ranging from 21-45 days is normal in the first year of menarche. Cycles above this duration needs evaluation. Early evaluation and intervention can prevent anaemia, which has a proven negative impact on studies, cognitive abilities, work performance and can have serious effects on reproductive years of life and beyond.

Vitamin C falls under essential category; it means our body cannot produce it and we have to depend on an external source for our requirement. But some of us like me tend to miss out on it and have to take supplements for the necessary vitamin intake. The product by is made with amla extract which very high in Vitamin C and Zinc.
