Tren Extreme vs. P6 Black - AnabolicMinds

Cellucor adds to the general naming confusion a bit by also having P6 Black, which is D-Aspartic Acid based. The majority of the new formula is taken from P6 Extreme, though, and it's likely (but not confirmed) that P6 Extreme will be the product that gets phased out. First, let's compare the labels side by side:

Honestly, to get a solid answer as to whether or not you need to take something for your liver to mitigate P6 I would head on over to r/steroids Those guys have way more experience and solid knowledge about PCT, cleaners and what works in general. They can probably offer better info. I do know that P6 Black has Androstenedione in it.

p6 red and black | Evolutionary Steroids Research Forums

P6 extreme black was deffinitely one of the better testosterone booster that I have used. Although it didnt really boost my sex drive like the Red P6 did, I did notice an increase in strength, stamina, and muscle growth. With that being said, you cant start eating these pills and just expect to get big all of the sudden.
