I posted this a few weeks ago and I got so many messages! Believe it or not, it took me almost a year to be able to do full chin ups and now I can do at least 4X5 which is huge for me. You've probably heard this 100X, but honestly, scale weight isn't the only win. When you don't like what the scale is telling you, think about everything else you've achieved. When I was doing these chin ups, I was in fact very unhappy with how my weight was going. But hey... I could deadlift over 100kg and do chin ups like it's nobody's business.
