#wellness #bhfyp Using it in an amount of 10 mg, it will be possible to restore the production of their own male hormone. Oxandrolone is attractive in that it combines well with other drugs. If you add a course with testosterone or other additives, then you should leave the dosing substance at 40 mg per day, not more. If I could turn back the clock these are definitely things I would rectify when starting training, I would recommend to anyone that is looking to take their training and physique to the next level hiring a coach will do that for you, do you research on them, contact them, ask questions and see if you are a good fit together.
