There are three main parts to your brain, the two halves/hemispheres and the brainstem (highlighted orange) underneath them. When any impact moves the brain inside the head, the stem twists underneath the weight of the hemispheres and that can disturb the electrical circuits of the brain and make you lose consciousness. The delayed reaction is because not all of the brain shuts off at once, one hemisphere can pick up the slack for another in some situations. Each tablet contains 10 mg of active substance. 10 blisters per box.
