Guys I have a fake vial of Pharmacom Tren Ace that I had kicking around from a while back so I thought I'd share the key elements to spot on fake vials! The box will be approximately 2mm longer in height. Obviously the code on the vial will register as fake on the official website.

Did you know that I actually turn patients away? Mind you I do this be referring them out to other practitioners better suited to their needs or I filter them out from the get go if I don't feel they are a fit. After nearly a decade in practice I have reached a point where I choose to work with patients that want to level up.
