When comparing HGH vs Steroids, the sheer versatility of Human Growth Hormone cannot be argued. There is no doubt that Human Growth Hormone can improve a steroid cycle and even help you get back on track after your cycle, but people around the world (including celebrities) use it for a variety of reasons. Human growth hormone (HGH for sale) is one of the hormones of the hypothalamus, which is produced by the anterior pituitary gland. This hormone is often called somatotropin . HGH or somatotropin causes a pronounced acceleration of linear growth mainly due to the growth of long tubular bones (bones of the extremities).

However, some medications may lead to weight loss. Anyone who is starting a new medication and is concerned about their weight should ask their doctor whether the drug is likely to have any effect on weight. discover this info here
