Studies were published concluded that PT 141 will help with sexual dysfunction. After years of experimenting with PT 141 with clinical trials on both men and women, and being passed around from one pharmaceutical company to the next, in 2016 the FDA finally approved it to be used to treat sexual dysfunction in women. Bremelanotide PT 141. The peptide Bremelanotide PT 141 is now used to treat sexual dysfunction in men and women. But it wasn't originally intended for this purpose. In fact, this synthetic peptide blend was developed from Melanotan II, a hormone that can darken skin pigmentation and induce tanning.

If this is something you need in June, the very first step my clients made was to reach out for help. ☺

PT-141. Bremelanotide PT-141 is a peptide that is being used to treat sexual dysfunction in both men and women, although that was not its intended purpose. PT-141 was developed from Melatonin II as a way to darken skin and accelerate tanning but it was found by accident to cause erections and sexual arousal.
